Nlp seduction techniques pdf

Let me paint the scene for you: I sat down one day in sunny San Diego with my new Shogun Method client. (Let's call him John.) Look, John wasn't the best man in the world. He didn't have much experience with women, too. So he came to me to learn new skills to be better with the ladies. I told him, John, I need basic information from you before you start. First of all, how long have you been single? John rubberded back to his chair and eyes darted towards the ceiling. He took a deep breath and said, I don't know. About three months? I looked John in the eye. That's not true, is it? I asked him. He dropped his head on the floor. Okay, no. You got me. It's more like three years, he said. What gave it away? Your eyes, I told him. You looked up and to the right, which means you created information, not really remember it. Needless to say, John was quite shocked. Is that even possible? he asked. I had no idea! As surprising as it may seem - yes. Reading someone this way is entirely possible. NLP Seduction (How to Use NLP to Seduce Women) Decoding Someone's Non-Verbal Cues is just one of many uses of neuro-linguistic programming (NLP). Apparently John's next question was whether NLP had any use in the seduction world too. Luckily for John, and for you, the answer is yes. NLP can be used in countless different ways to make a woman wish you. From just making her want you to make her fall head over heels in love with you – it's all possible to know it. So, let's delve a little further into some of the uses NLP has when used to seduce women. What is NLP? Neuro-linguistic programming is a little-known branch of science loosely associated with hypnosis. Unlike hypnosis, however, NLP has a lot of social in its approach. NLP compares traditional hypnosis to the following hypnotism while offering hypnotism scripted dialogue to the target until it gets into a trance. Similarly, NLP is about to deliver a script (also known as routines and sequences in the seduction world). It can be used to implant thoughts and ideas into your target head in the same way hypnosis does. Here's how NLP differs from traditional hypnosis: NLP plants thoughts on your target mind without the need to put him unconscious in a trance. As the name suggests, you are literally programming thoughts in his head. Sounds cool, right? NLP Seduction In Action Ask Yourself This: Do you know what women are looking for in a man? This is a question that men have pondered for centuries, but the answer is quite obvious when you think about it... Here's the answer: No one knows what women want from a man - not even the women themselves. But why is that? The truth is a little information about women's psychology. Unlike men, women make decisions about their love lives based on emotional reactions. (Guys have more their love life; it's pretty much driven by how our brains are wired.) It means that if you want a woman to fall in love with you, you have to feel it. And this is where NLP has its greatest ity. You see, nlp techniques, you can build a quick rapport between you and your target at the subconscious level. In other words, you can NLP establish an emotional connection with him. You can then use this emotional bond to attract him to you. Make sense? Good. In this mind, let's look at some specific NLP seduction techniques... NLP seduction techniques mirroring Has anyone ever said to be an attractive girl, you have to be like her? Of course, this is a common advice given out by Dating Gurus or Pickup Artists. However, I'm here to tell you that this cookie cutter advice is pretty much a mess. You don't want to be like a girl at all. And here's the reason... Women perceive when a man tries to emulate them to build a rapport. And you know what? You'll meet someone in need or desperate when they catch you. Leave that to amateur Pickup Artists and their helpless followers. Instead of what you want to do, it is to mean familiar on the subconscious level. And this is where Mirroring comes in. So what's Mirroring? Mirroring is exactly what it sounds like. You want to copy (the mirror) your action shamelessly, but here's a small twist: You do it about three seconds after it's out of them. Let's say you talk to a girl in the cafeteria. He runs his hand through his hair. Wait three seconds and then copy it, spinning your hair a little bit. By then, he could have sat back in the chair. So, you wait another three seconds, then sit back in your chair. Easy, okay? But that's not all. The reflection contains everything about him, from his breathing pattern to the volume of his voice. Fit her like that, and she's going to subconsciously look at you like she does. Instant rapport-builder! Implanted commands everyone and his chihuahua have heard about hypnosis before, but ask yourself: Do you really understand what he's doing? Hypnosis (and expanding, NLP) is able to change a person's thought patterns because of the lack of resistance to the conscious brain. In other words, NLP is designed to bypass the conscious mind. Now here's something about the conscious part of the mind that you need to know... Your consciousness is part of you that deals with cold logic, logic, and decision-making. For some reason, it doesn't like new ideas thrown into it. When something new comes up, it treats thought suspiciously and with control. What hypnosis and NLP do is remove it from resistance (or, rather, bypass it). NLP's approach to this is through a technique called implanted commands. First, you need to know something important about the female brain: While a woman may or may not believe what you say, she will never doubt her conclusions. (Read again to if you need because it is important!) It means that to seduce a woman, you have to secretly guide her thoughts to come to the conclusions you want. ... and that's how you do it: You have to talk to a woman the same way she talks about herself. If you do, his subconscious will believe it's his own idea. With implanted commands, you can pack the information and give it to it. When done right, he thinks, as if the information you feed him is his own thoughts. Do you see how powerful it can be? That's pretty cool, isn't it? The whole list of implanted commands (44 of them) is inside the Shogun Method, but here's the sample line: Of course, I can tell you that if you agree with me at dinner it will make your life better, but I'd rather experience it myself. Meet me at dinner part of the Implanted Command. The phrases around this phrase are designed to hide the command so that it goes unnoticed. Remember... What he can't detect, he can't resist. Fractionation As you've probably realized now, NLP can be incredibly powerful when it comes to seducing women. It may be strange to you, but NLP is not really that common love and dating. In fact, it is more commonly used by salesmen and high-profile marketers in the business world than anywhere else. There's a good reason... I've gotten a lot of flak from people who know this stuff exposing the use of NLP seduction outsiders... Derek, you're crazy. The less people know about this mess, the better it will be for all of us! I don't have it! The reality is that guys can finally get a short stick these days when it comes to dating... ... and I'm on a mission to solve this problem. Which means I'm spreading that knowledge far and wide. Neurolingual Programming (NLP) is a powerful tool in many areas, from treatment to self-improvement. As a powerful tool for impact, many people have asked how it can be applied to seduction of women. It can be applied in a simple way with limited effect, or it can be used to make a woman wish you completely. Here's how to use NLP to seduce women1. Positive use of languageA for easy but effective use of NLP is to make sure that you never use negative language. Saying: Today was not amazing, thinks not going as perfectly as I imagined being so much better to hear than today was terrible, things went horribly. Simply using positive words rather than negative words allows you to convey the same information without affecting the mood. 2.Pacing and leading When it speaks negatively, first pace it by accepting and extending it, but then taking charge and making things positive by making a theme or positively reframing a negative event. Walking and management also apply to energy and state. If he is cold with you, don't love him, instead match his cold and then slowly lead him to being seductive slowly becoming seductive to himself. The same goes for when it is tired or bored, pace and then lead.3.Mirroring and matchingWhen people spend a lot of time together, they tend if share mannerisms, reactions, vocabulary and tone and speed of speech. You can see it from good people, couples and relatives. When you match and mirror someone, they will feel much more comfortable and relaxed with you and as they have known you more. Do it:-Speaking at a similar rate, and using similar gestures.-Feeding back the words they use in conversation.-Reflecting how they sit, the amount of eye contact and facial expression. You can escape the surprising amount of mirroring and matching: they don't seem to notice!4.AnchoringAning is the process of linking touch, sound, or visual input to emotion. When a woman laughs, you can click your fingers, or touch her and it will anchor the emotion of a click or touch. Later, you can try to re-trigger the emotion by simply firing an anchor-touch or clicking. You can also anchor playing songs if he is with you, so he will later hear and associate with you. 5.PatternsNLP patterns of seduction involve language by using to bring out the emotion of the girl, which is desirable given the current situation. For example, the NLP seduction pattern would be: Did you ever just come across someone and almost immediately you start to feel as comfortable as you've known this person forever and then when you just let the barriers fall and you let them more inside you start to naturally feel the justification as it's meant to be. NLP is a powerful tool for impact, and to land the girl in your dreams you are going to want to use all the tools at your disposal to maximize your chances. Work on the above techniques and your newfound success with women to surprise and delight you! You!
